

Jeffrey Jackson

Jeffrey, originally from Boston, MA, is a Vice President within Evercore's Real Estate Advisory practice where he is responsible for leading the execution of strategic advisory services including mergers and acquisitions and capital markets transactions including asset and entity level financing for public and private companies. Prior to joining Evercore, Mr. Jackson worked in real estate private equity, sourcing and executing investment opportunities for core, core-plus, value-add and opportunistic vehicles. Mr. Jackson began his career as an Analyst within Citi's Real Estate and Lodging Investment Banking practice.

Mr. Jackson is an alumnus of SEO's Career Program (Class of 2001) where he spent his summer in Citi's Sales and Trading division. Mr. Jackson credits much of his professional success in the financial services industry to the opportunities afforded and lessons learned during his summer as a SEO Career Program participant.

Mr. Jackson received a BS in finance from Hampton University where he was a Presidential Scholar, and received his MBA from the Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth.
